METRO TILES

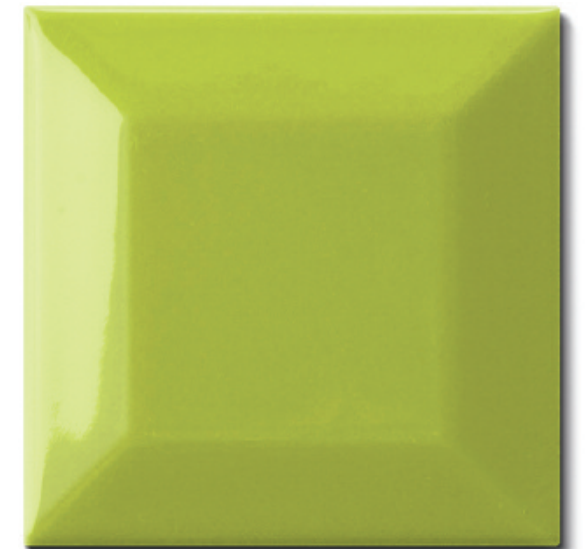

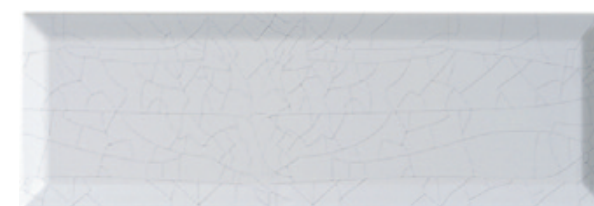

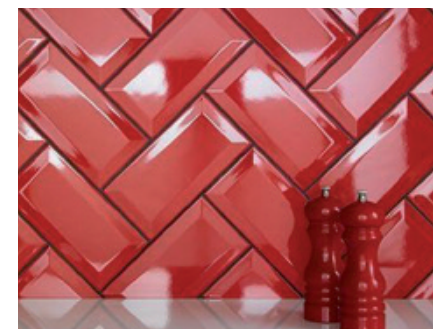

Created by Hector Guimard, one of the creators of l'Art Nouveau, this beveled faience tile has been covering the walls of the Parisian Métropolitain since its opening in 1900.

Over the years, the metro tile became a reference in the contemporary design.

The Diffusion Céramique Metro range mixes tradition and modernity by offering a large variety of sizes, colours and accessories.

Mix of simplicity and singularity, these tiles will enhance the walls of your bathroom, your kitchen or will create a beautiful atmosphere in a restaurant ■

Metro tiles

Trendy, classy & urban

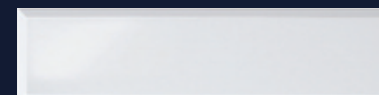

The metro tile does not age!
It is found in many trendy places such as hipster coffee shops, modern lofts and chic Parisian flats. Even though this tile was created at the same time as the industrial design, it will continue being fashionable for a very long time. ■

When fitting: Our advice

The 7.5x15 Metro tile is traditionally fitted with offset joints. Every other row should start with a 7.5x7.5 Metro tile. See drawing below. Seven 7.5x7.5 tiles are needed per linear meter. ■

MANHATILES

This is the range that home design was missing: extremely pure and elegant, the matte tiles are really matte and the glossy ones really glossy.

The colours are subtle, chic & fine and have been created to fit in the most traditional as well as the trendiest interiors. They match the most diverse range of colours.

The style is impeccable, the touch sensual and the effect simple yet sophisticated. With Manhatiles, you can create an elegant atmosphere no matter if the style is classic, design, minimalist or baroque. ■

The Terracim tiles will fulfil all your needs while making sure you avoid any decoration faux pas. The colours are subtle, the shades soft, the colour scheme well thought and the designs immaculate. On their own or in a patchwork, they will be an amazing covering for your walls.

A piece of advice? Dare mix them or oppose them to an ultra-contemporary atmosphere, trendy interior guaranteed!

Anyway, dare everything and above all, have fun!

ATTENTION !

This range of handmade designs may have slight variations in colours between different batches. These little imperfections are part of this handmade collection and do not constitute a fault. These tiles are porcelain tiles for walls, not cement tiles.

JUNGLE

Diffusion Céramique is glad to present you this new haute couture collection!

These ceramic tiles are hand painted by our ceramic artist in Salernes, the capital of faïence in France.

The hand painting is done on non-fired enamel, the realisation of the design takes more than one hour. Once this artistic work has been done, the tile can go through the oven. Even though the design is the same, the way the brush was used and the marks it leaves make every tile unique.

Our artist got inspired by the wild jungle trend to design these very bold and colourful tiles.

Show your wild side with these Made in France gems! They will add a luxurious, prestigious and original touch to any room. ■

TERRAZZO

Terrazzo is a building material. Fragments of natural stone and coloured marble are mixed with cement and then polished until it is as glossy as marble.

The coloured aspect of Terrazzo immediately lights up your floor; no matter if it is a small or a big surface.

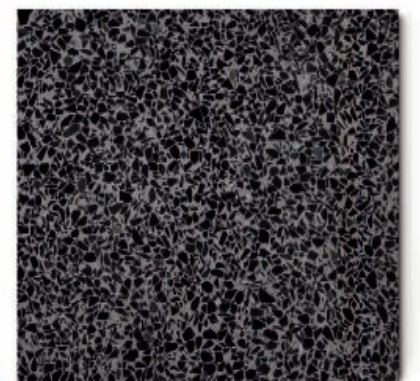

It is so resistant it can be used in any place: halls, kitchen, living room, restaurants, airports... Modern and elegant, terrazzo gives a glossy, cool and vintage vibe to your room. Moreover, Terrazzo lasts a lifetime! ■

JAPANESE PEBBLES

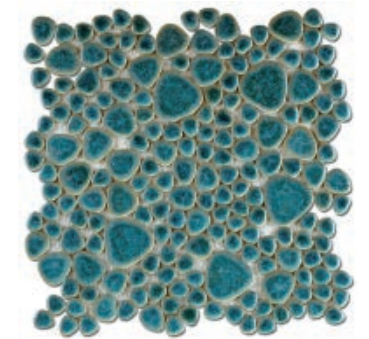

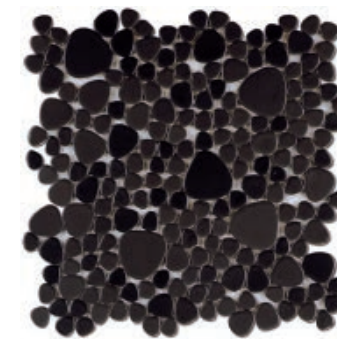

The Japanese pebble - mosaic enameled in stoneware - creates this very sought after zen atmosphere.

Its resistance and easiness to fit allow it to be in any room:

bathroom, swimming pool, spa... It immediately gives a relaxing vibe.

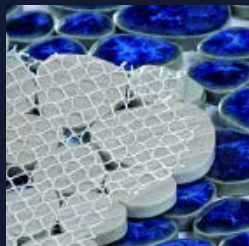

Available in matte, glossy and crackled colours, the pebbles are placed on a mesh of 26x26 cm.

The sheets are nestable and easily fitted like a normal tile. ■

Japanese pebbles, Zen, pure, relaxing...

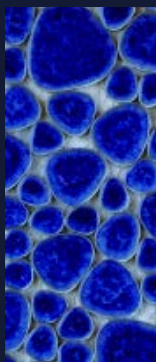

The Japanese spirit will blow in your house and will keep its intensity as this trend is not about to run out of puff. ■

Specialist's advice: How to fit them?

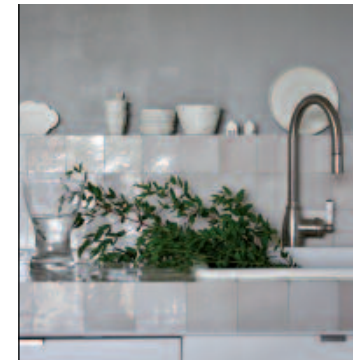

Coat your floor or wall with mortar with a fine-tooth comb (to avoid getting mortar between the pebbles).

Fit the Japanese pebble sheets making sure they are as close to each other as possible. (If the sheets are not fitted close enough to each other then lines between them will appear when making the joints). Fill all the remaining spaces with loose pebbles. The next day, make the joints with a liquid mix to make it easier.

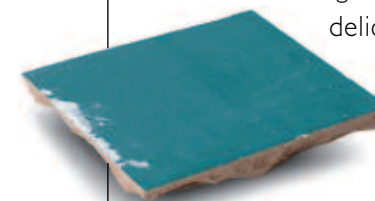

Clean with warm clear water to remove the marks of mortar. ■

ZELLIGE

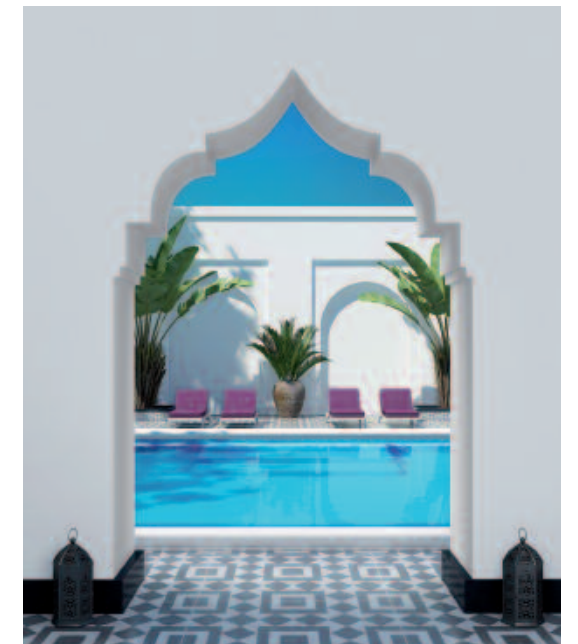

Zellige tiles have been adorning the walls of palaces, medersas, mosques and Medina fountains for centuries.

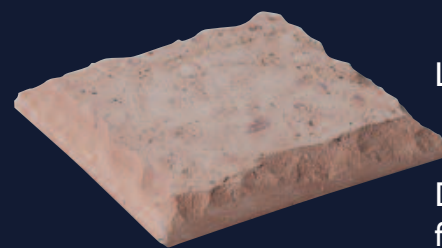

This enameled clay tile still is handmade by experienced artisans following ancestral techniques. It is fired and then delicately hand cut into diverse shapes (square, octagon, star, cross). Infinite designs can be created with Zellige tiles.

Influenced by arts from the Byzantine, Arab, Persian and Roman Empires, Zellige can be used in a contemporary interior while keeping its traditional aspect. ■

ZELLIGE, Noble, sublime, precious

Living art in evolution, extraordinary beautiful and authentic, Zellige adapts to modern styles without losing its soul and splendour.

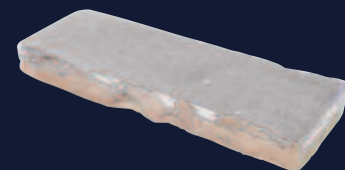

Despite its modest origin, this tile made its way up to the walls and floors of the most beautiful edifices. ■

The Bejmat is a little Moroccan biscuit, originating from the Moroccan town of Fès, it comes from the curing of a brioche called Qrachel that has flavours of orange blossom and anis.

Once the Qrachel has become hard, it is cut in little slices and then goes through the oven again to obtain little rectangular crispy biscuits: the bejmat.

The resemblance of the clay tile with this biscuit as well as the similitude of their fabrication processes explain why they are both called Bejmat. ■

CEMENT TILE

The cement tile - also called mosaic-tile - was born in 1850 in the French region of Ardèche. It was back then an original and solid solution way less expensive than marble and stone.

It is handmade following a revolutionary process discovered by Etienne Larnande: hydraulic lime mixed with calcinated clay, sand and water becomes a material as hard as stone without being heated.

A liquid mortar made of pigments, marble powder and grey or white cement is poured into a mould using a funnel. There is an infinite number of combinations thanks to mould dividers and a large range of colours. The tile is hand pressed then unmounted by hand. It stays out in the sun for three weeks for it to dry.

Cement tiles and their bold colours are beautiful in a modern interior while adding a little rustic touch. Follow your heart to get a very unique tile to decorate the house of your dreams. ■

Painting on enamel

These tiles are hand painted on a non-fired glazing. The patterns are made on the enamel using serigraphy and then filled in by hand with colours using a brush.

Once the design is finished, a crackled enamel is applied on the tile. The design is protected by two layers of enamel that is fired at 1040°C. The body has a thickness of 11 mm. ■

Asori or Mediterranean Sea...

The Mediterranean shores are full of richly decorated pottery and ceramics.

It is there that we found inspiration for the Asori range which means Mediterranean in Ancient Greek.

The association of blue and brown gives to this line the modernity we were seeking.

The design under crackled
glazing adds subtlety and elegance.

This collection offers countless interpretations thanks to its several designs realised on a 10x10 cm terracotta tile. ■

WAGAMI

Real passion in Japan

The Wagami paper made artisanally comes from an age-old tradition. It contains a countless number of designs as well as a huge variety of colours. It is in this teeming universe that we found our inspiration.

Some patterns in this collection were taken from original Japanese Wagami papers, some were heavily inspired from them and some others were created. The depth of the blue and the preciousness of gold were the best to use to give credit to these beautiful designs.

The hand pulled serigraphy allows for a fine and precise application in line with the Wagami spirit. This minimalistic collection allows for numerous interpretations and will seduce modern interior designers. ■

A decorative panel is the accomplishment of the art of a ceramist where they express all of their talents.

In the sixteenth century, the prosperity of the Ottoman architecture was at the origin of big projects using ceramic, in different regions of the Empire.

The walls of religious edifices and palaces were usually covered with impressive admirably designed arabesques in ceramic showing breathtaking mixes of colours.

It is in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, during the Kallaline period, Tunisian ceramists developed the most beautiful murals in the warmest colours. Today, they still enhanced the walls of ancient houses and religious monuments.

Our French national museum is full of them, proof that murals are a true work of art.

Using this beautiful heritage, we tried to replicate the immense richness of these murals to make your interior look like the one of a palace. ■

DECORATED STONES

Diffusion Céramique innovates and creates for you the decorated stone, a product that had never been seen before.

Our natural stone gets a little makeover and wears fabulous designs to create a unique artisanal product.

We selected in our Turkish quarries the most beautiful natural stone which we printed astonishing designs on.

Ink gets into the veins of the stone which guarantees a resistant design and a tile whose beauty does not age. These made in France designs will make you travel all around the world thanks to their colours and patterns. Whether you like psychedelic mixes of colours, shades of blue or red, or black sobriety, you will find a design you love!

On walls or floors, outside or inside, these stones will add colour and brightness to your home. The incredibly soft touch of stone as well as the authentic aspect of these designs will seduce you and all of your guests.

This product exclusively produced and sold by Diffusion Céramique is about to revolutionise interior design. ■

Exclusivity

The wonderful travertine was the base of our designer's work.
Nina Farré enhances stone with her original and unique designs that will make you travel all around the world.

Decorated stone will add nobility as well as a modern touch to your precious interior.

The innovative printing technique on a material such as stone guarantees a product of the highest quality.

NATURAL STONE

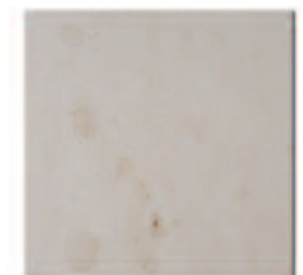

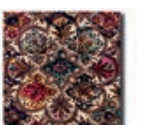

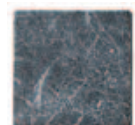

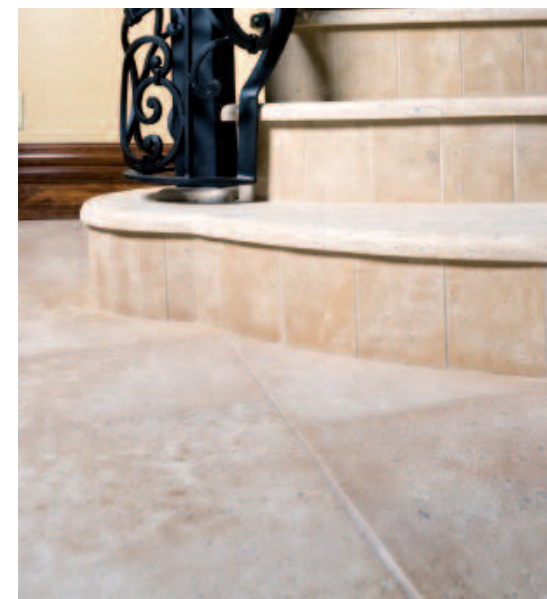

Coming from the legendary quarries of Turkey and Italy, this natural stone with a thousand different shades has been used for centuries making the Greek and Roman edifices the most admired of all times.

Its solidity and its esthetic qualities allowed it to never age nor go out of style. Ideal for ancient floor lovers or adepts of pure products. Stone fits perfectly in any kind of architecture, from the most ancient to the most modern.

It has very low porosity and is frost-resistant thus very suitable to be used around swimming pools or terraces. Its anti-skid properties allow it to be used in bathrooms and other humid rooms.

Its subtle and various shades get more and more beautiful over time and will bring softness, heat and harmony to any space and on any walls or floors! ■

Subtle, sincere and out of this world...

Discreet with a lot of personality,
it has been the go-to product in many projects and will keep on being like this for a very long time. ■

How to fit: The specialist's advice

FITTING: Our pebbles are stuck on a mesh. Fit the sheets like regular tiles, next to each other using mortar. Put the sheets as close to each other as possible, make sure they are interlocking. Once fitted, press firmly on them to make them stick to the mortar and get a good levelling. Clean with warm water and a sponge.

JOINTING: The joints are to be done 24 hours after the fitting. Pour a fairly liquid grouting between the pebbles and spread it using a scraper. Wait for it to dry and clean the excess with warm water and a sponge. ■
